

Précédé de la mention Résumé, entre 150-250 mots. Précédé de la mention Résumé, entre 150-250 mots.
Précédé de la mention Résumé, entre 150-250 mots. Précédé de la mention Résumé, entre 150-250 mots.
Précédé de la mention Résumé, entre 150-250 mots. Précédé de la mention Résumé, entre 150-250 mots.
Précédé de la mention Résumé, entre 150-250 mots. Précédé de la mention Résumé, entre 150-250 mots.
Précédé de la mention Résumé, entre 150-250 mots. Précédé de la mention Résumé, entre 150-250 mots.
Précédé de la mention Résumé, entre 150-250 mots.

Mots clés

Précédés de la mention Mots clés, 3 à 5 mots, ils doivent être séparés par une virgule, pas de majuscule (sauf les noms propres).

Mots clés : enseignement du chinois, Institut Confucius, Université de Maroua, Cameroun.

Introduction¹

The introduction should present the context of the choice of topic, the objectives and the importance of the research. In this part, it is suggested to present the different stages of the contribution. Texts submitted to the Sino-African Studies Journal should be between 3500 and 10.000 words maximum, excluding references. The introduction should present the context of the choice of topic, the objectives and the importance of the research. In this part, it is suggested to present the different stages of the contribution. Texts submitted to the Sino-African Studies Journal should be between 3500 and 10.000 words maximum, excluding references.

The introduction should present the context of the choice of topic, the objectives and the importance of the research. In this part, it is suggested to present the different stages of the contribution. Texts submitted to the Sino-African Studies Journal should be between 3500 and 10.000 words maximum, excluding references. The introduction should present the context of the choice of topic, the objectives and the importance of the research. In this part, it is suggested to present the different stages of the contribution. Texts submitted to the Sino-African Studies Journal should be between 3500 and 10.000 words maximum, excluding references.

The introduction should present the context of the choice of topic, the objectives and the importance of the research. In this part, it is suggested to present the different stages of the contribution. Texts submitted to the Sino-African Studies Journal should be between 3500 and 10.000 words maximum, excluding references. The introduction should present the context of the choice of topic, the objectives and the importance of the research. In this part, it is suggested to present the different stages of the contribution. Texts submitted to the Sino-African Studies Journal should be between 3500 and 10.000 words maximum, excluding references.

¹ The abstract, introduction, conclusion and references are not numbered. Further editing of the manuscript will be carried out by the editorial office according to our publication programme.

I. Literature review¹

The literature review is the theoretical basis for the research. It should present the work of other researchers who have gone before in this study. It should show how this contribution will be an extension or a challenge to an existing theory. It may be a source of new theory development.

For citations, please use the APA 7th Edition, automatic citation preferred (zotero, mendeley, endnote...). In the text, it is presented as follows: (Gonondo, 2017, p. 24); (Djiraro Mangué & Gonondo, 2021, p. 142); (Guiake et al., 2021, p. 171). The bibliography with full referencing is placed at the end of the article.

Quotations should be placed in the body of the text in inverted commas. Short quotations (less than 4 lines), followed by the name, year, page in brackets. For quotations longer than 4 lines, please use a line break, indented to the right, font size decreased by 1 (i.e.), followed by the name, year, page in brackets. For an oral quotation (less than 4 lines), put the quotation in the body of the text in italics followed by the name, year, page in brackets. For an oral quotation (more than 4 lines), make a line break, indented to the right, font size decreased by 1 (i.e. 11), in italics, followed by the name, year, page in brackets. Example: (Gonondo, 2017, p. 24)

2. Method

It is important to be clear about the type of methodology, methods and research tools/techniques used in the study. It should also explain how this methodology is applied in this article. It is important to be clear about the type of methodology, methods and research tools/techniques used in the study. It should also explain how this methodology is applied in this article.

It is important to be clear about the type of methodology, methods and research tools/techniques used in the study. It should also explain how this methodology is applied in this article. It is important to be clear about the type of methodology, methods and research tools/techniques used in the study. It should also explain how this methodology is applied in this article.

It is important to be clear about the type of methodology, methods and research tools/techniques used in the study. It should also explain how this methodology is applied in this article. It is important to be clear about the type of methodology, methods and research tools/techniques used in the study. It should also explain how this methodology is applied in this article².

Table/Figures/Graph

¹ Three level title numbering: I; 2; 2.1; 2.2; 2.2.1; 2.2.2; 3.

² Notes should appear at the BOTTOM of the PAGE in numerical form (1,2,3,...) and not at the end of the document. The use of footnotes should be limited.

Tables and figures should be inserted in the body of the text. For tables, the titles are placed above the tables; for figures, graphs and images, the titles are mentioned below. Sources should be placed below the figures.

NB: Please specify the source of the information

3. Findings and Discussions

The aim here is to present the results of this research, analyse and interpret them.

4. Recommendations and Conclusion

In this section, some suggestions for solving the research question are also expected. Some suggestions for solving the research question are also expected. Some suggestions for solving the research question are also expected. Some suggestions for solving the research question are also expected. Some suggestions for solving the research question are also expected. Some suggestions for solving the research question are also expected. Some suggestions for solving the research question are also expected. Some suggestions for solving the research question are also expected. Some suggestions for solving the research question are also expected. Some suggestions for solving the research question are also expected. Some suggestions for solving the research question are also expected. Some suggestions for solving the research question are also expected.

A brief presentation of one's research work is required, drawing on the most important results to answer the research question. It is also a question of saying what one should ultimately retain from this study. The opening of a debate for further reflection is highly desirable.

References

It should be preceded by the word References.

Djiraro Mangué, C. L., & Gonondo, J. (2021). Academic culture and talent cultivation: The Chinese experience. Journal of Comparative and International Higher Education., 13(1), 133–150.

<https://doi.org/10.32674/jcihe.v13i1.3133>

Gonondo, J. (2017). Africa and China Higher Education Cooperation: Establishing Knowledge Sharing Partnership between Students. Journal of Education and Practice, 8(10), 17–28.

<https://doi.org/10.7176/IJEP/2017/234>

Guiake, M., Djiraro Mangué, C. L., & Gonondo, J. (2021). Trends and Orientations of Cameroonian Students upon Graduation from Chinese Higher Education Institutions. International Journal of Social Sciences, 8(3), 169–183. <https://doi.org/Doi: 10.23918/ijsses.v8i3p269>

Biographical notice

Each manuscript must be accompanied by a short note of presentation of the author(s). This includes the author(s) full name(s), the highest degree, the place and year of graduation, the research interest and a brief presentation of his/her scientific work (attach link to researchgate, academia or other profile, if possible).